

Daniel Navarro
Automotive Commercial Manager

“Adding value to Customers is one of Cabelauto's pillars, using and producing quality products, with well-developed production technologies, a wide range of products, being always open to new market demands and trends and with transparency in negotiations.”

Daniel Navarro majored in Control and Automation Engineering, with a MBA in Business Management. Daniel has worked in automotive multinationals; he has started in the Process Engineering Department, passed through Manufacturing Engineering and worked as Plant Operations Manager supplying parts for the main car manufacturers in the country.

Daniel started working at Cabelauto in 2020 in the Automotive Comercial area, as Comercial Manager, serving and prospecting local and international customers, offering high quality products for the main and most demanding OEMs from the Market.

During his career, he had the opportunity to know operations in more than 15 countries, working with best practices and spreading them out.